“ Grandma has always been the light to my life. Since I was a child I remember her always caring for my brother and I while my mother worked countless hours to ensure we lived a great life. Grandma was a God fearing woman and embodied acts of kindness, love and respect. I want to acknowledge my mother Stephanie Craig. She has been the epitome of strength when grandma fell sick in September. From getting off work running down to change her, ensuring she was advocated for in the hospital, and giving it all she had. Ma I love you and Grandma is proud and I'm sure of that. I was raised by two beautiful women and that will always live in my heart. I love you to life Ma. Rest in Paradise Grandma. I will miss you more than anything.

“ Agnes was one of the most inspirational people I've ever known. She dealt with her illness for years with a determination to go on and live her life. She was one of the first to arrive at Sunday School and/or church dressed to the max with matching dresses, shoes, and hats. Always a fashion diva! Agnes you will always be remembered in the hearts of many as someone who didn't allow your illness to put limitations on what you did until the end. My condolences to her family 🙏
